Memories of War

During my research into the various military graves and war memorials in St. Cuthbert's, particularly those in the parish church of St. Nicholas, I have received great assistance from the groundsman, Mr. David Taylor, without whose help this project wouldn't have been anywhere near as complete as it now is. I owe him a great debt of gratitude, as does the parish, for all the work he carries out in the churchyard to maintain the graves and grounds in such a wonderful condition - something he has been doing for many years. His knowledge of the church, the graves and the parish is likely to be unsurpassed.

The project of documenting the military graves at St. Cuthbert's has taken far longer than I usually spend on a project of this nature. There have been a number of reasons for this; one being the number of personnel remembered in this grave yard which is greater than many others I've so far researched. Another factor has been the complexity of the research required on some of those remembered here. For example, Sergeant John Robert Clarke, whose military life spanned many years of split service. His records were very difficult to locate and connect together - not all of which have been published here for confidentiality and copyright reasons. For help in this particular case, I am indebted to three other researchers whose names appear in the relevant section. However, the main factor is that I've tried to provide more information than usual so the depth of research, and hence the time spent, has been longer. I hope readers find this, together with links to other related websites, worthwhile and helpful.

I would like to acknowledge the work of the Commonwealth War Graves Commission, the Imperial War Museum, the Ministry of Defence, the National Archives and the Western Front Association. Much of the information about these wartime heroes has been gleaned from their websites and the documents included in this tribute are their copyright©. I would also like to acknowledge the following websites for providing relevant information:

Henry William Adam

LIEUT. H. W. ADAM.

Lieut. H. W. Adam, R.A.F., H.M.S. Glorious, was killed on July 4, 1918. He was at School (D.S.) 1909-15, was a member of the 1st XV., a School Prefect, and a sergeant in the O.T.C. in his last year. From School he went to Queens' College, Cambridge. When the war broke out he joined the R.N.A.S., and saw a good deal of work on different ships. He was on active service in the North Sea when his aeroplane came down badly damaged into the sea. He was so seriously injured that he died shortly after.

Glorious received flying-off platforms on top of her turrets in 1918. A Sopwith Camel was carried on the rear turret and a Sopwith 1½ Strutter on the forward turret.

Lieut. Adam died of wounds flying from HMS Glorious the aeroplane had an accident (unclear whether takeoff or landing), capsized and fell into the sea. Henry was rescued (from the North Sea) but was too seriously injured to survive.

HMS Glorious continued to serve our country until 1940 when, on the 8th June, this British aircraft carrier and her two destroyer escorts, HMS Ardent and HMS Acasta were sunk when returning home from Norway by the German battlecruisers; Scharnhorst and Gneisenau. 1,519 British and Maltese sailors, marines and airmen died in the Royal Navy's worst loss of World War II.

FORMER MAYOR'S GRANDSON,
Military Cross for Young Officer.

The Military Cross has been awarded to Lieut. Harold Butterworth, son of Mr. Tom Butterworth, of the firm of Messrs. Butterworth & Dickinson, Burnley, and who resides at Lake Side, Fairhaven. The young officer—he is only 20 years of age—is the grandson of Mr. Wm. Dickinson, J.P., of Burnley, a former Mayor, and up to his parents leaving Burnley resided here, and attended the Burnley Grammar School. He was at school at Shrewsbury, and when 18 years old entered an O.T.C., and was later gazetted to the West Lancs. R.F.A. For about twelve months, however, he has been attached to the front to an anti-aircraft battery.

FORMER MAYOR'S GRANDSON.

LIEUT. H. BUTTERWORTH, M.C.

As announced in our issue of May 1, the Military Cross had been awarded to Lieut. Harold Butterworth, R.F.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Butterworth, of Messrs. Butterworth and Dickinson, and who resides at Lake Side, Fairhaven. The official account says:—

During several days of active operations he handled his section with marked ability, keeping such close touch with the field batteries that, at considerable danger to himself and his section, he prevented low-flying enemy aeroplanes machine-gunning our batteries. His personal courage and resource offered a splendid example to his men.

The young officer is only 20 years of age, and is a grandson of Mr. W. Dickinson, J.P., Healey Mount, a former Mayor of Burnley. Up to his parents leaving Burnley, Lieut. Butterworth attended the Burnley Grammar School, and was at school at Shrewsbury when he entered the O.T.C. at 18 years of age.

MILITARY CROSS WINNER. Former Mayor's Grandson Killed.

Only on August 3rd last we published, along with his portrait, the official account relating to the award of the Military Cross to Lieut. Harold Butterworth, of the R.F.A., elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Butterworth, Lake Side, Fairhaven, Lytham, and the eldest grandson of the late Mr. John Butterworth, Oak Bank, Burnley, and also of Mr. W. Dickinson, J.P., Healey Mount, a former Mayor of Burnley, and the present head of the firm of Butterworth and Dickinson, Ltd. It will cause genuine regret amongst friends of the two families when we state that the gallant young officer was killed in action on September 20th, official news being received this week of the sad occurrence.

Lieut. Butterworth was 21 years of age, and up to his parents leaving Burnley about ten years ago he attended the Burnley Grammar School. Afterwards he went to Lawrence House, St. Annes-on-Sea, and Shrewsbury, where he was for two years in the O.T.O. Immediately on reaching the age of 18 he left school and was given a commission in the West Lancashire R.F.A., and went out to France early in April, 1916. A few months later he was attached to an anti-aircraft battery, and remained in that branch of the artillery until killed by an enemy shell on September 20th.

He was in command of an anti-aircraft section at the time of the retreat in March last, and was awarded the Military Cross for the following: "During several days of active operations he handled his section with marked ability, keeping such close touch with the field batteries that, at considerable danger to himself and his section, he prevented low-flying enemy aeroplanes machine-gunning our batteries. His personal courage and resource offered a splendid example to his men."

His C.O. has written: "He thoroughly deserved the Military Cross which was given him. He always 'played the game,' and whilst in command of his section backed me up most loyally. His section is well-known throughout France, and has more than once been called the finest out here. He was in command of it at the time of his death, and his loss will be very greatly felt by the whole battery."

John Edward Clark

John Robert Clarke

John Robert Clarke

Sgt. John R Clarke's story is a rather unusual case as he wasn't a direct casualty of the Great War even though he passed away in 1915. Not only that, but he had a remarkably varied and split military service which is highly unusual. J.R. Clarke was a military man, through and through, serving for many years in India - and also Aden, Cape of Good Hope and St. Helena.

At some point before June 1888, he joined the 4th Battalion of the Norfolk Regiment. At that point the 4th was a Militia unit (refer to URL: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Royal\_Norfolk\_Regiment#The\_Victorian\_era)

The Militia was a part-time force, not totally dissimilar to the Territorials. I don't know the minimum age for joining the Militia but he was 18 years 7 months when he joined the Regulars, I doubt he spent long in the 4th.

In June 1888, he joined the Regular Army at Great Yarmouth, signing up to be 67622 in the Royal Artillery. In theory, he joined for 7 years' service "with the colours" (i.e. in uniform, serving full time with a unit, then 5 years' Reserve Service - Reserve Service is when you're back in civilian life but are liable to be mobilised if there is an emergency.

In September 1895, he extended his service "to complete 12 years with the Colours" - so he's staying in uniform and not going back into civvies.

In December 1898, he was "Permitted to ReEngage so as to complete 21 years with the Colours" - so I'd say that this is the point at which he confirmed that he's going to be a career soldier.

In 1900 he's noted as being in 13 Company RGA (Royal Garrison Artillery). The RGA was a part of the Royal Artillery that dealt with either fixed batteries such as coastal defences or, later on, the big guns.

He was promoted to Sergeant in May 1901. There seem to be various Company numbers from this point on. Garrison Artillery Company numbers can be located to places using the Army Lists should you desire to find out more information.

In August 1908 he was posted to the Recruiting Staff - this is scribbled out in red in his record for no apparent reason. We know from his obituary that he was in Recruiting at some point, maybe the Artillery bureaucracy had no official interest in that position, hence the record of it was deleted?

Finally on 8 June 1909, he was "Discharged. The termination of his second period of engagement" - this is 21 years after he first signed up to the Artillery in June 1888 and matches his December 1898 re-engagement to complete 21 years. He was discharged from 42 Company Royal Garrison Artillery at Portsmouth.

As a former soldier with valuable experience, he volunteered to join the Royal Field Artillery, on 28 September 1914 in Preston.

Sadly, because of extremely poor health, he was discharged from the service on 27 February 1915 and passed away on 28 July 1915.

Some other points from this period of service:

He received the "(Army) Long Service & Good Conduct Medal" and also the "India Medal" (awarded for the campaign of 1895-1902), with clasp for "Relief of Chitral 1895".

His 2nd period in the Regular Army started when he volunteered in September 1914 - he joined the Army Reserve (Special Reservists) for (a nominal) one year and received the number 38223.

According to his records, he was supposed to have joined the Royal Field Artillery 11th Divisional Ammunition Column but this is very difficult to read.

The Royal Artillery at this time (and for some time before) split into three:

Royal Field Artillery - in charge of the guns on or around the battlefield - chiefly 18 pounder field guns and the smaller howitzers in WW1;

Royal Horse Artillery - intended to provide mobile support to the cavalry so used smaller 12 pounder field guns;

Royal Garrison Artillery - originally manned guns at forts, coastal batteries etc, but during WW1 also had the bigger guns.

For various reasons the RFA and RHA were administered as one, hence you may find stuff annotated RH & RFA or similar.

When WWI broke out, it was decided to expand the Regular Army and the result was the formation of a number of units in what was referred to as the New Army. 11th (Northern) Division was one of the New Army divisions (refer to URL: <http://www.longlongtrail.co.uk/army/order-of-battle-of-divisions/11th-northern-division/>)

The Order of Battle shows "11th Divisional Ammunition Column RFA" to be part of the Divisional Artillery. DACs supplied ammunition for both the artillery and the infantry as far as a refilling point where individual brigades, batteries or battalions took over their own ammunition. This was a crucial role, of course, so getting experienced soldiers like John Robert Clarke was crucial. Sadly, it wasn't to be for him.

URL: <https://victorianforts.co.uk/rga.htm> appears to record what the RGA was doing at Portsmouth in various forts there. Certainly in 1914, 42 Company was described as "No. 42 Company: Inner Defences, Portsmouth. Southern Coast Defences."

John Robert Clarke was Steward at the Lytham Conservative Club whose members erected his memorial in St. Cuthbert's church, Lytham. His wife, Mary passed away on 14 March 1960.

John and Mary were married at the parish church in Charlton, Dover, Kent, on 29 November 1902.

from: Fleetwood Chronicle - 6 August 1915

The remains of the late Sergeant John Robert CLARKE, steward of the Lytham Conservative Club, were laid to rest with full military honours in the Parish Churchyard at Lytham on Saturday. Deceased, who died somewhat suddenly on Wednesday evening, was in the RGA and had seen 11 years service in India. He left the army about six years ago, and prior to coming to Lytham was in the recruiting office at Manchester. The body was taken from the Conservative Club on a gun carriage drawn by six horses, and leading the cortege was the band of the 148th Brigade (County Palatine), who played Chopins "Maerche Funebre". The service was conducted by the Rev A L PEEL, the curate, and as the body was laid in the grave the "Last Post" was sounded. In addition to a large number of the RFA at present in training at Lytham, there were also in attendance a number of members of the Conservative Club.

I am indebted to Martin Briscoe, Adrian Bruce and Nivard Ovington for supplying me with a great deal of the information you see here about Sgt. Clarke. Many thanks to you all.

COMMEMORATED IN PERPETUITY BY THE COMMONWEALTH
WAR GRAVES COMMISSION

William Victor Dagger

Served in the British Army (Royal Flying Corps) as an air mechanic (2nd Class). He was involved in the Siege of Kut 1915-1916, and subsequently forced to march into captivity. He became a prisoner of war of the Ottoman Army (Turks) and died in hospital in Aleppo.

The date of death shown on his CWGC Certificate is the 29 April 1916. This date is not likely to be accurate as it is the date the garrison in Kut surrendered. As W.V. Dagger was taken prisoner and died in hospital in Aleppo there would have been some time between the two events. Some records indicate that he died in November 1916 from a war related sickness.

The siege of Kut Al Amara (7 December 1915 – 29 April 1916), also known as the first battle of Kut, was the besieging of an 8,000 strong British Army garrison in the town of Kut, 160 kilometres (100 miles) south of Baghdad, by the Ottoman Army. In 1915, its population was around 6,500. Following the surrender of the garrison on 29 April 1916, the survivors of the siege were marched to imprisonment at Aleppo, during which many died. Historian Christopher Catherwood has called the siege "the worst defeat of the Allies in World War I". Ten months later, the British Indian Army, consisting almost entirely of newly recruited troops from Western India, conquered Kut, Baghdad and other regions in between in the Fall of Baghdad. (This paragraph text courtesy of: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Siege\_of\_Kut).

H.M.S. Pathfinder

HMS Pathfinder was the lead ship of her class of two British scout cruisers, and was the first ship ever to be sunk by a self-propelled torpedo fired by submarine (the American Civil War sloop-of-war USS Housatonic had been sunk by a spar torpedo). She was built by Cammell Laird, Birkenhead, launched on 16 July 1904, and commissioned on 18 July 1905. She was originally to have been named HMS Fastnet, but was renamed prior to construction. During the beginning of World War I, the Pathfinder was sunk on 5 September 1914 by a German U-boat, the SM U-21.

Title: Royal Naval Division Service Records 1914-1920

Description: The British Royal Naval Division was made up of men from the Royal Navy and its reserve forces. These men, who were not needed at sea, fought on land alongside the Army during World War One. The records cover more than 50,000 officers and ratings who joined the Royal Naval Division or who passed through Crystal Palace, London when it was used as an initial training centre during the First World War.

CEMETERY INFORMATION:

Roclincourt was just within the Allied lines before the Battle of Arras in 1917 and it was from here that the 51st (Highland) and 34th Divisions advanced on 9 April 1917. The 1st Canadian Division attacked further north, across the Lens road. Roclincourt Valley Cemetery (originally called Roclincourt Forward Cemetery No.2) was begun after 9 April 1917 by the units which fought on that day.

It was used until the following August when it contained the graves of 94 soldiers, of whom 40 belonged to the 51st Division. These form Plot I, Rows A to E and part of Row F.

The cemetery was enlarged after the Armistice when graves, almost all of April 1917 and mostly from the 34th and 51st Divisions, were brought in from the surrounding battlefields and from certain smaller cemeteries, including:-

KING CRATER CEMETERY, ROCLINCOURT: a mine crater, it contained 99 burials in five big graves, made by the 34th Division in the middle of April 1917, all dating from 9 April. All but two belonged to the Tyneside Brigades of the Northumberland Fusiliers.

KITE CRATER CEMETERY, ST LAURENT-BLANGY, contained 53 burials of 9 April 1917 in five big graves, mainly of the 34th Division.

RABS ROAD CEMETERY, ST LAURENT-BLANGY, contained 20 burials of 9 or 13 April 1917, 16 belonging to the 15th or 16th Royal Scots.

ROCLINCOURT LONG CEMETERY (called at one time Roclincourt Forward Cemetery No.3), contained 68 burials of 9 April 1917, all 51st Division.

THELUS ROAD CEMETERY, ROCLINCOURT, was made by the XVII Corps and contained 42 burials of 9 April 1917, 51st Division.

The cemetery now contains 518 burials and commemorations of the First World War. 83 of the burials are unidentified but there are special memorials to four casualties known, or believed, to be buried among them. The cemetery was designed by Sir Reginald Blomfield.

A Request to the Parish Council and Parishioners

One of the anomalies that exist in many parishes is the fact that there are some omissions in the names inscribed on the war memorials compared with those in the churchyard. This is noticeable when one visits the churchyard and observes the names on the headstones of the graves and memorials of those killed in, or who died later because of their injuries, following both World Wars and who are not listed on the war memorials. The parish would render a great service to the families of those war heroes from the village if there was a common memorial that included all the names of these victims of war. Obviously, many casualties of wars never return home and are buried in other countries or have no known grave, although many of those are at least remembered on war memorials in both the UK and overseas. Others will be buried or remembered elsewhere in the United Kingdom.
